DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-7 and 23-24, drawn to a mutant of a protein or a variant comprising an additional disulfide bond, classified in class 530, subclass 350+, for example.

Group II, claim(s) 8-9, drawn to a nucleic acid encoding a mutant of a protein or a variant comprising an additional disulfide bond, classified in class 536, subclass 23.5+, for example.

Group III, claim(s) 10-16, 18, and 20, drawn to a method of therapy using a mutant of a protein or a variant comprising an additional disulfide bond, classified in class 514, subclass 12+, for example.

Group IV, claim(s) 17 and 19, drawn to a method of therapy using a nucleic acid encoding a mutant of a protein or a variant comprising an additional disulfide bond, classified in class 536, subclass 44+, for example.

Group V, claim 21, drawn to a method of screening assays or TSE-tests applied to animals and humans, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1+, for example.

Group VI, claim 22, drawn to gene therapy or transgenic animals or uses of such, classified in class 800, subclass 3+, for example.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the shared technical feature uniting the groups is a mutant of a protein or a variant of which that comprises at least one additional engineered disulfide bond which inhibits a conformational transition. However, Lu et al. (Biochemistry, Vol. 39, pages 13575-13583, 2000) discloses recombinant human doppel protein which appears to meet all the limitations of the technical feature (for example, see dependent claim 4). Therefore, the shared technical feature is not a special technical feature by definition since it is not novel and is not a contribution over the prior art. Therefore, Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept and therefore lack unity of invention.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, and because the search and examination of these groups are different because they involve separate searches in both the patent and non-patent literature, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because the search and examination of these groups is different and would pose an undue burden to the examiner.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.1741).

5. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims.

Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
